

OpenText BPM Mobile

for Metastorm BPM®

Bringing people into the process anytime, anywhere

In an increasingly mobile society, work is no longer completed solely in the office, or even the home office. Work is done on the go, from mobile phones and tablets. In order to contribute fully, your employees must be able to not only access, but participate in work from these devices. With OpenText BPM's mobile capabilities you can reach people where they are to increase productivity and enable more strategic business improvement by including client-facing and field initiated processes.

OpenText BPM Mobile for Metastorm BPM enables you to contribute to and advance your business processes via iPhone, iPad, BlackBerry, or Android devices. With OpenText BPM Mobile, you will:

- Design processes that contribute more value to the enterprise and in turn enable strategic business improvements
- Increase productivity by enabling employees to actively contribute to processes whenever and wherever is most convenient
- Ensure compliance with regulatory requirements by having access to, and a full audit trail of, all work completed in the course of a business process – no matter where that work is done
- Rest easy because your critical business processes are secure when accessed from mobile devices

Access and fully participate in items on your To Do list directly from your mobile device.

Your business processes don't stop at the front door and neither should your ability to access and participate in them. Your organization will benefit from the real-time logging of all events and your ability to optimize and automate the critical, customer-facing processes that drive your business. OpenText BPM Mobile for Metastorm BPM empowers you to not only extend your enterprise beyond office boundaries, but to improve your business' agility and efficiency in real-time.

With OpenText BPM Mobile for Metastorm BPM, your work goes where you go, delivering strategic mobile processes to keep up with the ever-increasing pace of business
